

One of Most Popular Movies To Be Here This Week.

When Manager Grau, of The Rex Theatre, secured Cleopatra for use for two days this week he succeeded in getting one of the best drawing cards in the moving picture show business. It requires six reels to present the different acts and scenes. Every scene is a gem and every act and actor are of the best. Helen Gardner, one of the greatest actresses of the day, assumes the title role and all the other parts are acted by artists of the highest order, one hundred persons participating when the snap-shots were taken to present the great attraction to the world. The Rex will have a bill that will be patronized. It may be assumed that "Cleopatra" will rival "The Black Prince," though entirely different in scenic effects and situations.

GRAND PROVOST MADE ERROR

Tristan L'Hermite Receives Private Sign From Louis XI., but Picks Out Wrong Man.

Louis XI. of France one day, observing among the crowd who assembled to see him an officer whom he disliked, made a private sign to Tristan L'Hermite, his grand provost, to put him out of the way. Tristan, well accustomed to the signal, but unfortunately mistaking the man alluded to, neglected a well-fed monk, who stood in the same time with the captain, allured him into the palace yard, thrust him into a sack and threw him into the Seine.

Next day Louis, hearing that the proscribed officer had been seen posting toward Flanders, reproached Tristan with this neglect. "To Flanders!" said the grand provost; "your majesty must be in an error. The monk has got halfway to Rouen by this time. I sent him adrift tied up in a sack."

"What monk?" "Him your majesty pointed at." "Hah!" said the king, with his usual oath, "you have drowned me the best priest in the kingdom. It cannot be helped now, so we will have a half a dozen masses said for his soul; but it was that dog of a captain, not the poor monk, that I meant."—Life.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Brains Before Whiskers.

While investigating the hay market short weight cases some years ago, Isidor Wulfson, city inspector of weights and measures, resorted to the use of false whiskers. Since that time members of the police department have taken great delight in jesting about Wulfson's whiskers.

Recently two city detectives met Wulfson.

"Say, Isidor," said one of the detectives, "we are going out on a deep case tonight and would like to use your whiskers."

"It's not my whiskers you need," retorted Wulfson. "It's my brains."—Indianapolis News.

Disapprove of Princely Physician.

Prince Louis Ferdinand of Bavaria, who has been granted permission by the government to use the university buildings at Munich for the purpose of carrying on his medical practice, has aroused the medical professors of the institution to complaint. They have hitherto monopolized the university buildings, and protest against such a privilege being granted a practicing physician. The prince, who is a surgeon of skill, does not charge any fee, and usually gives medicines to the poor without charge. His practice has grown to such an extent that his patients cannot be accommodated at the palace.

AT THE AVALON

Tonight The Two Hopkins Will Sing and Lectures Will Be Delivered.

The Christian County Teachers Club will have a splendid program at The Avalon tonight. In addition to the lectures to be delivered there will be several solos by the well known artists Elsie Herberer Hopkins and Mr. Carlos Hamilton Hopkins.

The Evansville Journal-News had this to say:

"Elsie Heberer Hopkins' voice swept the audience irresistibly—a lyric soprano of surpassing beauty—every tone like velvet, round and full in all its registers, with runs, trills and top tones that rang like a bell."

Dr. Frank C. Miller, of New York City, physician to most of the famous singers of the Metropolitan Opera House, says of Mr. Hopkins:

"Mr. Hopkins' ringing tone, breath control, the abundance of temperament and that magnetism which is found in his voice, cannot help but be appreciated by the most unmusical."

Tickets can be bought today at the Anderson-Fowler drug store and at James Cook's drug store.
